ROBERT BELL AND ELIZABETH WRIGHT ROSS

Robert Bell Ross was born in a little town near Edinburgh, Scotland, on March 4, 1832, to Robert Ross and Mary Patterson of Scotland. His father died a few weeks before his birth leaving his mother a widow with a large family to raise. With the help of an Uncle Robert, he received an exceptional education for those days. He became a successful mining contractor. In his young manhood he, with some of his sisters, were converted to The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

On New Year's Eve of the year 1854, he was married to Elizabeth Wright, daughter of Robert Wright and Janet Stevenson. Elizabeth was born February 28, 1832 at Belleson, Scotland. They were married by an Elder of the church. 785

This couple was blessed with but one child, a son, Robert Bell Jr., who was born January 22, 1857. Later the same year when little Robert was but a tiny babe the family with some relatives and other Saints, among whom was Karl G. Maeser, came to America. They crossed the stormy Atlantic in the ship Tuscarora. After the long ocean voyage where they experienced severe storms and much illness they landed at Philadelphia.

The family did not come to Utah at that time, but went to Maryland where relatives resided. From Maryland they went to Kentucky and to Illinois. In the year 1862 they joined a company of Saints who were leaving to cross the great plains to come to Utah. They came with the Homer Duncan Company. After the trials and hardships incidental to these long journeys they arrived at Cache Valley where they resided during the winter.

In the spring they went to Virginia City, Nevada. Here Mr. Ross's mining ability stood him in good stead. In the spring of 1873 the family settled in Midway, where they remained the rest of their lives.

Elizabeth Wright Ross was an expert with the embroidery needle, and was an excellent dressmaker. No one could prepare a better meal, and her skill in gardening is known to all who knew her. She lived to be 92 years old.

Robert Bell Ross died in Midway October 12, 1895, and Elizabeth Ross died October 16, 1924, in Midway.

Ella Gertrude Alexander Ross, born January 1, 1863, East Mill Creek, Salt Lake County. Daughter of Alvah Jedathan Alexander and Elizabeth Soule. Married Robert Bell Ross, Jr., 1881. Died October 25, 1931, in Midway.

When Robert was but a few months old his parents and maternal grandparents took him to Liverpool, England, from where they set sail on the ship Tuscarora, for the land of America. They arrived safely about mid July at Philadelphia.

From 1857 to 1862, his parents lived and labored in several states. They had joined The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in their native land, but had to remain in the east to secure means to go on to Utah. They reached the Salt Lake Valley in the fall of 1863. Then they moved to Virginia City, Nevada, for a few years. In the fall of 1872 the family returned to Utah and settled in Midway. Here they established a home where they resided the rest of their lives.

Robert taught school, farmed, also worked in the mines of Park City. He loved to mingle with the young people. He was especially fond of dancing and dramatics. In civil capacity he served as Justice of the Peace for many years. He was a director of the Midway Town Board and was President of the Midway Irrigation Company.

Ella Alexander was the fifth child and third daughter of eleven children born to her parents.

Her first year in school was in Mill Creek, but when she was seven she moved with her parents to Midway. She taught school during the winters of 1880 and 1881. When the 1881 school year ended she was married to Robert Bell Ross being then eighteen years of age.

Ella Alexander Ross was an ardent church worker in most of the auxiliary organizations. She was a member of the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers. She was President of the MIA and a teacher in Relief Society. She made temple clothes and helped with the sick. She was an outstanding church and civic worker. Both are buried in the Midway Cemetery.
